Mr. John D. Rockefeller has offered Wellesley College $150,000, to be used in the erection of a dormitory and in installing a central heating plant, provided $150,000 is added to the endowment of the college from other sources before Commencement Day, 1902. The present endowment of $100,000 was a gift from Mr. Rockefeller in June, 1900.

GREETINGS.

The annual New Year's greeting from the English Literature Department, comes to us this year in the shape of an artistic booklet, printed in Wellesley blue, and entitled "A Glad New Year, 1902." The following words of address appear on the first page:

"The English Literature Department, in again wishing Wellesley girls a Happy New Year, would again urge you to seek your happiness nobly. To this end we bring you a message from over-seas. Our two truant professors, Miss Scudder and Miss Jewett, from Wordsworth's lakes and from the haunts of Saint Francis, send you greeting."

The booklet contains a letter from Miss Scudder on "The Uses of Poetry," and a poem "From Umbria," by Miss Jewett. Miss Scudder, in the little essay, brings out the interpretative value of poetry. "Now, no study, I think, so helps us to the larger consciousness, the fuller life, as that of poetry. Science, history, philosophy, if you will, and economics, give us the material out of which life is made, but poetry gives us material transmuted into life itself." The poets "have made manifest the secret life which we are too dull to see, unaided."

To gain this insight into nature and life, Miss Scudder exhorts the student to a companionship with our poets, outside of the class-room and study hours, and to the memorizing of poetry in youth, when the mind gains and retains, with ease.

At a meeting of the Student Government Association, held on Wednesday afternoon, December 11th, it was impossible to transact any business on account of the lack of a quorum. Miss Grace Dean, Chairman of the Athletic Committee, read the report of that Committee, and the various heads of the sports spoke in regard to the old and a new Athletic Association. The Committee recommended that there be an athletic association, constructed on a new basis. No definite action could be taken.

Immediately following the Freshmen elections on Friday night, December 13, the Sophomores gave a reception in the student's parlor, in honor of 1905's newly elected officers and the class at large.

The dramatic hints and criticisms, which have been appearing on the Student's Government Bulletin Board, have, through the courtesy of the English Department, been removed to the fourth floor bulletin board. Hereafter they will appear on that bulletin.

"Excuse me from ever again traveling on the Fall River Boat when the Wellesley College girls are on board." This remark from a very prominent man needed an explanation—so I came up from New York with the students after the Christmas holidays—to study my own feelings on the subject. They agree with the aforesaid man's.

About half an hour before the boat was scheduled to leave its moorings, I betook me to the pier. Above the noise of the draymen, the cabmen and the baggagemen could be heard feminine shouts—feminine laughter. As I came in view of the boat I heard my own name shouted from several different quarters of the boat, and before I started to cross the gang-pank, a dozen girls had rushed across it from the boat and were vociferously embracing me. In vain I tried to shake them off. They plied me with a thousand questions—each question shouted at the top of its owner's voice. My state-room key was seized, and pushing their way as best they might through the crowd of other girls, they fairly rushed me up to my state-room amid more shouts and laughter. Suddenly they saw another poor unfortunate friend starting across the gang-plank. They shouted "good-bye" to me and ran to greet the newcomer in the same gentle fashion. And so it was on all sides—each little "crowd" greeting its friends and acquaintances in a manner anything but womanly and dignified.

If the boat had been chartered for the Wellesley students one might have forgiven—somewhat—the noise, the hubbub; but there were hundreds of other people aboard—over half of them men—and, judging from their expressions, they were as thoroughly disgusted as I.

Of course, it was merely thoughtlessness on the part of the girls, but must we not all stop for a minute and consider this matter seriously? Our Alma Mater is judged, by the outside world, by the actions and manners of the representatives of the college on just such occasions. If fifty or a hundred girls congregate together and behave in an indecorous fashion, the world, naturally, judges the rest of the college by that fifty or a hundred.

If it is necessary to our welfare to be noisy sometimes, let us make all the noise we have to within the bounds of the college grounds. Can we not lower our voices and restrain our overflowing spirits in the village, on the trains, in the theaters, and all places of public amusement? Will we not—each and every one of us—try, in the future, to be dignified and quiet in all public places?

All news items will be gratefully received by the Editor of "College News." Such items must reach the Tea Room before eight o'clock each Monday morning.

The Freshmen Elections.

On Friday afternoon, December 13, during a hard rain storm, the long and eagerly awaited Freshmen elections took place. Contrary to usual custom, and general expectation, they were held in the Chemistry Building. The cheers and yelling, of the wet and bedraggled Sophomores, could be heard as they encouraged the younger class in their work of election. The ballots resulted in the following candidates being chosen:

President, Fanny Bixby.

Vice-President, Amy Gurlitz.

Recording Secretary, Julia Holder.

Corresponding Secretary, Edith Moore.

Treasurer, Sally Reed.

Executive Committee, Maria Dowd, Helen Cook, Eliza McCague.

Advisory Committee: Eliza Newhall, Bess Halsey.

Athletic Member, Sarah Woodward

Factotums: Gertrude Fisher, Grace Fisher.

After the elections the newly made president was brought to College Hall Centre and enthusiastically cheered by all the other classes.

1905 is the first class to buy a new boat in the freshman year. Miss Bixby, President of the class, and Miss Hill have already ordered from Mr. Davy, Harvard's best boat-builder, the finest eight-oared barge that we have ever had in our boat-house. Mr. Davy built the Pair-oar "Tuckannuck," owned by Miss Hill, and "'96," given by the class of '96. Our other boats have been built by Mr. Keast of New Haven.

The boats, left to the Department of Physical Training, by '94 and '95, have given out, after a long and hard usage, and it seems most commendable and enterprising of 1905 to take this step toward their rowing position in the Spring.

The efforts of the Christian Association to raise money for Dinah Pace resulted in $69.06 being obtained.

At the Norumbega entertainment for the benefit of Aunt Dinah Pace's orphanage, Saturday evening, January 18th, at 7.30, Miss Caroline Newman will recite Uncle Remus Stories and the Glee and Mandolin Clubs will sing and play. The rest of the entertainment will be a surprise.

Outside guests are very welcome. Admission 15 cents. Ice-cream will be sold after the entertainment.

A New Way to Establish Scholarships.

One of the most successful and unique entertainments, for the purpose of founding a Wellesley College Scholarship for a Rochester Girl, has been given by the Rochester Wellesley College Club. It is a cat show, held in Fitzhugh Hall, the largest hall in Rochester, where for three days all sorts and conditions of cats, long and short haired cats, Persian, Angora, Manx and tailless cats, were exhibited. The show was most successful, $1,200 in all being taken in and $638 cleared. Cats from all parts of the United States, Chicago, New York City, Iowa, Massachusetts, etc., were sent to be exhibited. One of the finest cats on exhibition was a short haired Tortoiseshell, valued at $1,000, from Natick, Mass. The pictures of Russell Sage's cats, loaned by Mrs. Sage were another interesting feature of the show. The entertainment was in charge of the following committee: Elizabeth Gibbard, 1883-6, Chairman; Katharine Wetmore, '97, Louise Wetmore, '97, Mrs. Adeline Bouney McGuire, '94. Mrs. Baker of Albany, a well-known judge of cats, awarded the prizes.

A set of the Golf Play pictures was taken by Mr. Abel and can be ordered from him by college students.

The Freshmen are to be congratulated on having (for the most part) given up the "gym" blouse for breakfast attire. The costume is rather ungainly for the dining-room.

MIDWINTER.

BY SOPHIE JEWETT.

All night I dreamed of roses,
Wild tangle by the sea,
And shadowy garden-closes,
Dream-led I came to thee.

Around thee swayed the roses,
Beyond thee sang the sea;
The shadowy garden-closes
Were paradise to me.

O Love, 'mid the dream-roses
Abide, to heal, to save!
The world that day discloses
Narrows to one white grave.

—January Century.

On Monday December 16, the Juniors gave the annual play to the Freshmen. 1903, this year, made a happy selection of another of Pinero's works; namely, the modern satirical comedy "Trelawny of the Wells." In the morning, at ten o'clock, practically the whole college, with the exception of the Freshmen, assembled to view the dress rehearsal. This audience showed the usual Monday morning enthusiasm, and each individual player was welcomed with applause as she made her first appearance upon the stage. In the afternoon, the more formal presentation was given equally successfully. The cast was so well rounded, that it is impossible to give the players individual mention. The entire cast is to be congratulated upon giving the college a most pleasing interpretation of "Trelawny of the Wells." Following is the cast:

THE PERSONS OF THE PLAY.

Theatrical Folk.

ACT II. At Sir William Gower's in Caverdish Square, June.
ACT III. Again in Brydon Crescent, December.
PERIOD—Somewhere in the Early Sixties.

The committee which selected the play, parts and managed the production was composed of Frances Terry, Chairman; Jean Foster, Christabel Cannon, Mary Haines, Alice Stockwell.

On Saturday night, December 14, the annual Christmas dance was given, in the Barn, by the Barnswallows. The dancers came dressed as children and received, with adequate childish glee, sticks of candy from the big Christmas-tree. Miss Amy Ford officiated as the time-honored old Saint Nick. Music for the dancing was furnished by the Natick Orchestra. The following committee had the dance in charge: E. L. Sanborn, Chairman; Alice Spink, Annis Van Nuys, Caroline Rogers, Elsie Appell, Majorie Lee, Miss Woodbury, Miss Sykes.

The Juniors are to be most heartily congratulated on the poster they displayed advertising the Junior play "Trelawny of the Wells." It was one of the most effective posters ever shown on the time honored entertainment bulletin board. Let there be more of like kind.

REDUCTION FOR JANUARY AND FEBRUARY.

Gowns, $15.00.

NOTES.

The many friends of Miss H. S. Dudley, of Denison House, will be glad to hear that she is going abroad early in February for a six months' rest.

A sub-committee of the Income Fund Committee has been formed, of vice-chairmen. The Presidents of class organizations, the Presidents of Wellesley Clubs and Representatives of States are included. This sub-committee has been formed to devise means of adding to our income.

An interesting meeting of the Boston Branch of the Association of collegiate alumnæ, was held on January 2, under the charge of the committee on Friendly Visiting. Mary W. Dewson, '97, is President of the Branch.

It is very interesting to note how many of our alumnæ are turning toward scientific housekeeping. This winter Miss Lydia Southard '99, Miss Jessie Braley, '98, and Miss Frances Abbott, formerly of '98, are studying at The School of Housekeeping. Let the good work, continue.

On Saturday afternoon, December 14, Mr. Samuel Arthur King, M. A., gave a reading from Hamlet in College Hall Chapel.

On Saturday afternoon, December 14, occurred the annual Doll Show and Candy Sale. College Hall Gymnasium, as usual, was used for this sale.

On Tuesday night, December 10, occurred the regular meeting of the Science Club. Professor Clapp of Technology gave an interesting talk on the geological aspect of the Charles River.

On Friday morning, December 13, the Legenda issued by the Class of 1902 was put on sale. From cover to cover the publication is highly commendable and satisfactory. The book contains the usual subject matter, the history of the class, quibs at different events, which have happened in the past four years, grinds on the entire class, list of the Officers of Instruction, Graduate Students, the different classes, all clubs and organizations, in fact everything which could reasonably be expected in a college yearly periodical. The covers of the book deserve especial mention, as being most artistic and attractive. Following is the Legenda Board: Emily Pitkin, Editor in Chief; Mabel Hyde, Associate Editor; Charlotte Hobbs, Lucy Moody, Jessie Hutsirsphlar, Hetty Wheeler, Literary Editors; Elizabeth Campbell, Jane Button, Mignon Baker, Mary Vail, Art Editors; Lucile Green, Clare H. Conklin, Clara Lorenzen, Business Editors.

"A notable meeting, in which Wellesley had a prominent part, was that of the Society for Plant Morphology and Physiology, held recently at Columbia University in New York City. Two of the papers given were by members of the Wellesley College Faculty—Dr. Margaret E. Ferguson, on 'Germination of Basidiomycetous Spores,' and Professor Clara E. Cummings, on the new species of lichens collected by the Harrison Expedition to Alaska—these specimens having been sent to Miss Cummings for examination." B. T.

Friday afternoon, January 17th, at 2.30, Mme. Sembrich will give a song recital in Symphony Hall. Tickets $2.00, $1.50 and $1.00.

Mr. Charles Williams, will give a reading of "The Crisis," (an original arrangement of Mr. Winston Churchill's Novel), at Steinert Hall, Tuesday afternoon, January 28, at 3 o'clock.

Sousa has returned from his English triumphs and comes here shortly with the same band and the same soloists that recently played before the King of England. His concerts will be given at Symphony Hall on January 19 and 22. Maud Reese Davies, soprano; Dorothy Hoyle, violinist, and Arthur Pryor, trombone, will also be heard.

COLLEGE NOTES.

The Wellesley Magazine for December.

The magazine for December, issued shortly before the close of last term, is an especially good number. Lucy Wright, 1900, describes the Charity Organization Movement, in a most able and interesting manner. "A True Story of Prilep," by Helene Louise Buhlert, '03, is a pretty story, well worked up from a Bulgarian tradition. The two sketches, "The Dreamer," by Bessie Wheeler Manwaring, '02, and "A College Settlement Episode," by Matilda Woods, '02, are cleverly written, and especially praiseworthy for their exposition of the mental side of their characters.

The "Latest Wellesley Calendars" have been reduced from sixteen cents to ten cents. For sale at the Tea Room and at the Book Store.
